

Dear Mr. Herzberg,

I would have liked to thank your son for all he has sacrificed. He showed what leadership and commitment to our country really is. On this day you should not be one to grieve. On this day you should hold your head high and be proud of your son. Eric helped us fight to be a free country. Your son did something that not many would do. He sacrificed his life so that where we live could be a better place. His actions as an American could influence everyone in this country and maybe all over the world. This day being a day to remember the ones who have died for our country, is the day that we can also celebrate our freedom. I wish you and your family the best.

Sincerely,

Courtney McKenzie
