

June 2012

Dear Eric W. Herzberg Jr.

I can't even begin to imagine what it was like for you when you were deployed. Sure, I can imagine, but I will never truly know. This pain you went through that I cannot feel, the sacrifices you made that I have not... I wanted you to know they are never over looked. Eric, I promise you won't ever be forgotten. Your service lives on through myself and many others because we are free to be who we want, express ourselves how we see fit and are always safe thanks to you. I tell myself everyday how lucky of a girl I am. I'm certain everyone that ever had the pleasure of meeting or knowing you felt awfully lucky too. I don't think you realize how much of a difference you made, how many lives you touched. As I sit here and try to imagine what you went through, I realize I cannot. All I know is how thankful and lucky I am.

For me that is enough,
Chloe M. Crisley ✓