

Dear Herzberg family,

Eric made that change, yes, THAT change. Why else would we be writing so many letters to you guys? I don't even know him and I wish he had a longer life to live. He seemed like one of those people who had special reasons on why God made them that way. So we should all celebrate the impact he made in his life. I'm sure you miss him very much, I'd feel the same if my brother, who is in the Navy, died too. But thinking about how brave he is, and happy he was in his life, it MUST outweigh that mourning! If I'm being honest, I wouldn't be brave enough to join the military, and I bet that's the majority of the Earth, so that shows how special he is. Even after that, I send my condolences, please live a wonderful life in his honor!

Sincerely, Myah Love

Dear Eric Herzberg Jr,

I hope you're having a peaceful stay in heaven. Just here to say you did what you said you could do. You changed so many lives, so you reached your goal before you died. I never met you because...I wasn't born yet; but I'm sure you were a good person from what your family says about you. You probably miss them, but please be patient, they'll come to heaven when it's their time and when they've fulfilled their goals and did what God wanted them to do on this Earth. I know you're doing well in the hands of the LORD, so I'll leave you to it.

Made with Love, Myah Love
