

Dear Herzberg Family,

As the casualties rise and the sun falls, a new day will come. For a soldier in Iraq or Afghanistan, night comes. Whether they are a man or a woman, night brings a breathe of cool air for the warriors who are in a foreign land with a hot climate. But danger persists, as the pain of war seems to not fade.

Your son was brave. He was and will forever be a courageous man who gave his life for those he loved and those he has never met and will never meet. It makes a tear form into the corner of my eye when I honor the men and women having given their lives fighting for the one thing we hold dear but take for granted. I am sorry for your loss and give my sympathy.

From,

Don Bryant
Eric W. Herzberg will not be forgotten.
